AMERICAN DISPATCHES.

HOW CAN CHINESE BE KEPT OUT OF THE STATES.

Appropriation for a Puget Sound Revenue Cutter—Great Street Car Strike—10,000 Men Blockade the Street and Throw the Car in the Ditch.

WASHINGTON, June 10.—Senator Squire is preparing to take a sub-committee of the Senate committee on immigration, to the Pacific Coast during the coming recess, to investigate the invasion of the United States by Chinese. Some remedial legislation is needed against this evil, but the only suggestion which has been received with any favor is one for a negotiation of treaties with Great Britain and Mexico, by which the the United States will have the co-operation of those Governments in excluding the Chinese who now slip over the border in great numbers. Should such treaties not be negotiated, it will be necessary at least to enlarge the force now engaged along the border in enforcement of the law. Possibly the report of the committee of Congress on this subject will have some effect in helping to open the public treasury. At present there does not seem to be much disposition to be liberal in the allowance for this work. Mr. Squire's trip will occupy about six weeks. The committee will leave Chicago in a special car some time in October.

A Horse Goes Through a Car.

FALL RIVER, June 10—An open horse car on North Maine street containing twenty passengers, was dashed into by a runaway horse with a grocery wagon this forenoon. The horse went right through the centre of the car leading on the opposite side, tearing away iron braces, two oak supports and a seat attached. Jennie Burke and George H. Pancoast who occupied the seat, and Mrs. Rice on the seat behind were thrown from the car. Miss Burke was hurled twenty feet and when picked up it was thought she was dead but she revived later and found badly hurt internally. Pancoast who occupied the end of the seat nearest where the horse entered was very severely injured but Mrs. Rice escaped with a few slight bruises. No other passengers were hurt. This horse caused a number of accidents before. Probably a number will die from his escapade.

Customs Service for Alaska.

WASHINGTON, D. C., June 10.—Alaska is soon to have six new ports of delivery. A bill for their establishment has been passed and is now before the House backed by a favorable report from the committee on commerce. The bill provides that the ports of delivery shall be Mary Island, Wrangel, Juneau, Sand Point, Kodiak and Ounalaska. The secretary of the treasury is authorized to designate customs officers for the ports when they are established, and to provide the buildings necessary for the transaction of business at Mary Island and Sand Point at a cost of $25,000. There is hardly a chance that the bill will not become a law.

Fight on the Track.

LEXINTON, June 10.—Owen Bradly, a well-known race-horse trainer, shot and mortally wounded Price Jinkins here at half-past ten this morning. Jinkins had a fight with Bradly's brother William last night, and this morning Owen took it up. In the melee Owen drew a pistol and shot two or three times, Jinkins being wounded in the head and abdomen. Bradly escaped.

To Stop Smuggling.

WASHINGTON, June 10. The House committee on commerce has reported in favor of the passage of the house bill for the purchase and equipment of a steam vessel to be used in Collection district, Puget Sound, for the purpose of preventing violation of the Chinese restriction acts and the customs laws. The bill carries an appropriation of $12,000.

Street Car Strike.

COLUMBUS, June 10.—At noon to-day a street car company attempted to run cars, but were interrupted by fully 10,000 workmen, who suddenly made their appearance on Long street, blocking the thoroughfare and derailing a car which was in charge of the police. Another car started out, but was also stopped at High street, lifted off the track and placed in the ditch. The greatest excitement prevails, but so far no one is injured.

Swallowed by Quicksand.

HELENA, Montana, June 10.—J. M. Page, who has been surveying a contract with the Government, received a telegram last night that George Freeman, a young Englishman, one of his chainmen and an engineer, were drowned in the Milk River yesterday. The surveying party were camped at a point on the river about nine miles from Harlem bottom. The river runs over quicksand, and it is supposed that he attempted to cross the stream and was caught in the sand.

The "San Francisco."

WASHINGTON, D. C., June 10.—President Scott, of the Union Iron Works, of San Francisco, who is in the city, is very enthusiastic about the new steel cruiser San Francisco which is just being finished at the Union Iron Works. He expects her to be superior in speed to any cruiser yet built in America and he would not be surprised if at her trial she should prove faster than the cruiser Baltimore or still faster the Italian vessel the Piemonte.

A Unique Memorial.

MIDDLESBORO, Ky., June 10.—One of the most unique memorials ever proposed for a dead hero is now being discussed here. It consists in the erection of a monument by the Grand Army men and ex-Confederate soldiers acting in unison, to their respective leaders in the civil war, Grant and Lee, on the mountain peaks overlooking Cumberland Gap.

An Executioner Found.

NEW YORK, June 10.—A Times special from Athens, Greece, says, "Wanted, an executioner," has ever since the year 1884 been the pathetic cry of the judicial authorities. No subject of King George has hitherto been found willing to come forward and perform the last dread behest of the law. Meanwhile the criminals condemned to death have had a high old time of it. A headsman has at length gone to a foreign person, one Roukis, who is himself a convicted assassin, but who has signified his readiness to save his own neck be decapitating a number of other scoundrels whose turpitude is as great as his own. So Roukis has been placed on board a man-of-war which will take a summer trip around the Greek coast landing where occasion may require, and proceeding to towns where murderers are awaiting their doom. There are just eleven of those miscreants to be dealt with.

Terrible Paroxysms of Hydrophobia.

NEW YORK, June 10.—For six hours Edward Corrivean, 32 years of age, lay in his isolated cell at Bellevue hospital, yesterday, snapping and snarling and going through all the terrible paroxysms of hydrophobia. At noon no one dared go near him. At 2.30 o'clock in the afternoon he died from sheer exhaustion. Corrivean was bitten recently by a black and tan terrier.

Grain and Fruit Destroyed.

MARYSVILLE, Cala, June 10.—Reports from the Reclamation district, in Sutter County on the Sacramento river are to the effect that not an acre of wheat or barley will be raised this season. The farmers within the limits of the district propose to rebuild and strengthen the level this season which will involve an outlay of at least $70,000. There are about nine miles of level to reconstruct and the remainder of the level standing will have to be raised.

In Distress.

NEW YORK, June 10.—Pilot David Nicollsy, who arrived here this morning on board the North German Lloyd German steamship Werra, reports that Sunday morning in latitude 40 degrees 43 minutes, long. 69, he spoke the French steamer Labourgogne which had been lying to since Saturday midnight. The captain of the French liner, when spoken to by Capt. Nicollsy, said he did not need assistance and he was making the necessary repairs to his vessel and would proceed on his voyage to Harve. The tug Pulver, which went out yesterday to find the steamer returned this morning after a fruitless search for her.

Won't Give Information.

NEW YORK, June 10.—A dozen more warrants for the arrest of persons who refused to answer questions put to them by census enumerators, were issued this morning by United States Commissioner Shields. On one batch of warrants issued yesterday six arrests were made this morning and the prisoners brought before the commissioners. Four were discharged and others held for examination to-morrow.

A Mean Advantage.

COLUMBIA, S. D., June 10.—W. Boyett, a farmer, was killed on Sunday in Orangeburg by W. J. Bozard, one of his tenants. Boyett was seventy years old and his slayer twenty-three. They quarrelled about some farm work.

The Men Who.

OMAHA, June 10. — Vice-President Holcomb, of the Union Pacific, to-day acceded to the demands of the freight conductors, brakemen and baggage masters of the road. Hereafter the freight conductors will receive three and two cents per mile for 100 mile runs and 30 and 20 cents per hour for over time. The demands of the crews on runs between Omaha and Cheyenne was also granted.

Distillers Trust.

KANSAS CITY, June 10.—J. D. Ber, brewer, who returned from Chicago yesterday, says there will be a warm fight between the distillers and cattle feeders trust and those not in accord with it. With plenty of capital and plans partly perfected the anti-trust men say that they will soon be in a position to cope with the out put of the trust both as to quantity and price. To attain this end they are raising capital for the erection of two great distilleries which will have almost as great a capacity as the combined distilleries of the trust. It is proposed to erect two distilleries at a cost of about $2,000,000 each. Their joint capacity will be about 20,000 bushels of grain daily which will be great enough to cope with the combined out put of the trust product, north of the Ohio river. The location of the distilleries have not yet been agreed upon.

Boodle Alderman Hurt.

NEW YORK, June 10.—Ex-Alderman James Peterson, of the boodle board of 1884 was fatally injured last night, by being run over by the 6.30 (p. m.) express from Jersey City on the Erie railroad. Since the spring of 1889 the ex-alderman has been out on bail and living with a family at Paterson, N. Y. Last night he got on the wrong train and seeing his mistake attempted to jump on a moving train for Paterson, when he fell beneath the wheels with the above result.

MR. DUCK'S SPEECH.

TO THE EDITOR: SIR.—You have, judging from your reference to Mr. Duck's speech on the Sunday Bill, and your reference to the ministers, forgotten that the Rev. Mr. Starr took the [illegible] effective reply to the uncalled for attack of Mr. Duck. As you state, Mr. Starr "is in the habit of shooting error as it flies" and did not shrink from the task of defending himself and the church against the ignorance and violence of that tirade. HOME AND FOREIGN.

A FAMILY OUT OF WORK RESOLVES ON SUICIDE.

A New York Paper Noted Among Libelous Publications—The Emperor Francis Joseph Becomes Communicative on Matters of Policy.

POTSDAM, June 10.—On the arrival here this morning in course of a continental tour, the Crown Prince of Italy was received at the station by Emperor William, who cordially embraced the Prince on alighting from the cars. The Emperor's illustrious guest then proceeded in state by carriage to Stadt Schloss and afterwards continued on to the new palace where they paid a visit to the Empress, with whom they took luncheon. Later the Emperor accompanied by the Crown Prince went to Bornstolderfeldt, where an inspection of the calvary was held.

The State of the Copper Market.

LONDON, June 10.—The growing demand for copper and the rapid disappearance of the great stocks gathered during the existence of the copper ring, is causing a flutter among the speculators, and a great boom is confidently predicted. The consumption it is said is exhausting the supply. The increased use of sulphate of copper and good, and the growing quantity used for electrical purposes and cartridges have largely tended to bring about this state of affairs. The Paris ring, at the time of its collapse, had 170,000 tons of copper. To-day it has only 60,000 tons, and prices are steadily advancing. There are no other known stocks, and a powerful syndicate is trying to get the 60,000 tons from the Paris bankers in order to get control.

A Whole Family Suicides.

LONDON, June 10.—At Holloway, a northern suburb of London, a shocking tragedy has just come to light. A family consisting of husband, wife and boy of eight years agreed to put an end to their existence as they had been out of work for some time. A dose of strychnine was given to the child and he died in fearful agony. The father and mother then cut their throats, but not sufficiently deep to cause death. They were discovered by neighbors and will probably recover.

The Difficulty will be Settled.

VIENNA, June 10.—Emperor Frances Joseph, while conversing with the leaders of the old Greek and German parties to-day, declared that arrangements to reconcile the existing differences were the subject of the conference and that a satisfactory result would certainly be effected. This significant departure of the Emperor from his customary reserve on all matters appertaining to state policy is expected to exercise a decisive influence in the settlement of the questions at issue.

Robbed a Church.

LONDON, June 10.—Canterbury Cathedral was robbed by burglars last night. The collection boxes were forced open and a considerable sum of money was taken.

Must be Examined.

OTTAWA, June 10.—As a result of the charges made that the New York Mercury is a libelous publication, the post offices and customs house departments have ordered all importations of that paper to be hereafter sent to the customs officials for examination.

Trying to Evade the Scaffold.

HAVANA, June 10.—The Seneca, of the Ward line, arrived this morning, having on board the French inspectors who are after Eyraud. The inspectors were met by representatives of the French consul, and went to the Hotel Rome. The authorities are glad to get rid of Eyraud, who is a white elephant on their hands. As already cabled, he cut himself severely with a glass from his eye-glass. Last Thursday he asked for some soap. His manner was suspicious and he was searched, when a rope was found concealed on his person. He had torn his shirt and made a rope, fixed a noose and then stanched it. He was furious when this was discovered.

Chamberlain Favors Compensation.

LONDON, June 10.—A deputation of brewers to-day waited upon Joseph Chamberlain to solicit his support for licensing and compensation claims of the Publicans' Bill. Chamberlain informed the delegates that in his opinion the brewers should be remunerated if their business was destroyed by law. They were, he said, as much entitled to justice when their rights were invaded as those engaged in any other business. The deputation left Chamberlain's presence expressing complete satisfaction with his endorsement of their position.

Opera House Burned.

ST. JOHNS, Que., June 10.—Block's opera house was burned last night. Gaylord's New Orleans minstrels gave an entertainment there last evening and left nearly all their effects in the building. The origin of the fire is unknown. Loss $40,000.

Total Wreck.

LONDON, June 10.—Advices have been received here to the effect that the British bark Singapore, commanded by Captain Tidmarsh, from Middleborough March 12, for Bahia Blanca, is ashore at Cape Corrientes, on the coast of the Argentine Republic. Captain Tidmarsh and five of the crew were drowned. The survivors have reached Buenos Ayres in safety. The Singapore will probably go to pieces and so prove a total loss. It is possible, however, that with assistance and favorable weather some part of the vessel's cargo may be saved. To do even this will require great expense and risk.

The Montreal Shooting Case.

MONTREAL, June 10.—Mrs. Cowles appeared in the court this morning with her daughter Florence. A Sabat presented which Cowles wrote requesting all claims to the [illegible] and the arrest from him to the man embezzling them to deliver her up. This is regarded as a concluding case and Mrs. Cowles will be given the custody of her daughter. Cowles condition was not improved to day and the wound may result fatally. A commission of physicians has been appointed to examine Cowles to-morrow to ascertain if he is in a fit condition to come into court. If so the case of Hale will at once go to the grand jury, and if a bill be found against him he will be tried at once. None of the party connected with this shooting affair will leave the Dominion till everything is finally settled. Judge Ingersoll is at present engaged with Canadian counsel making out a plan of defence for Hale, which will be self-defence. It is known that Cowles had a revolver in his possession when he was brought to the hospital and there was some injury to his shoulder as if a struggle had taken place in the carriage.

CANNIBALISM REVIVED.

The Failure of Crops in Upper Egypt Causing Great Distress Among the Natives.

LONDON, June 10.—Further advices have just been received of the sufferings of the inhabitants of Upper Egypt, owing to the failure of crops. Cannibalism has taken place. Everything moving has been eaten, dogs, cats, rats, donkeys, snakes, lizards, old bones and leather are eagerly devoured, and the stronger takes by force from the weaker. Subscriptions have been started which enable the relief committee to feed about three thousand of the worst cases and to start a mat hospital for the sick. This is at Suakim. At Tonkar starvation is worse. Between fifty and one hundred, and sometimes over die daily. At Kassala it is still worse; whole families are being found dead in their houses. At Gallabat and Gedurit the population has nearly ceased to exist.

A DOUBLE SUICIDE.

A Young Lady Blows Her Brains Out on the Eve of Her Marriage.

BUCHAREST, June 10.—A romantic double suicide is just now the subject of conversation, and on account of the prominence of the participants, has created considerable excitement.

Helene Neriavi, the daughter of a court minister, was married to Captain Moldavvia, a physician, not long ago, but from whom she shortly became divorced, and later was engaged to Captain Coestarch, with whom she had been deeply in love for many years. The consent of the king to the marriage was obtained, and everything was in readiness for the ceremony, when upon the very eve of the wedding, Helena discovered that blood relationship existed between herself and her intended husband. Deeply grieved in a moment of delirium she seized a pistol and shot herself through the heart. Goestarch was almost crazed at Helene's death, and for five days ceaselessly he prayed beside her body and at her tomb, then he was not seen for two days, and his friends becoming alarmed, forced the door of his room and found him sitting in a chair dead. One hand held a volume of Heine's poems, marked by it is dead love and bearing on an open page a bunch of Edlweiss, while his other hand clutched a gown that had belonged to Helene and which he had thickly strewn with rosebuds.

POSITIVE RELIGIOUS TRUTH.

Dr. Patton Defends it Against the Tendencies of the Age.

PRINCETON, N. J., June 8.—The exercises of the one hundred and forty-third annual commencement of Princeton college began this morning with the baccalaureate sermon, by Dr. Patton. Speaking of the study of the Bible and methods of interpretation, Dr. Patton said in part:

There are men who stand in our pulpits and preach on the patience of Job and the moral courage of Daniel, who find material for sentimental sermons in reason, and entertaining sermons on the social follies of the day and practical sermons on the importance of sleep or the need of restraining the imagination, but who are silent respecting the tremendous fact of sin and the dogmatic significance of the atoning blood. I do not say such men are handling the word of God deceitfully, for I am willing to have them plead guilty, if they prefer, of literary incapacity and unscholastic stupidity that prevents them from seeing that the bleeding Christ is the central fact of Scripture.

Cultivate discrimination, seize upon master thoughts, get hold of the big end of questions, rest your opinions on broad and deep rational foundations, follow the great road of evidence and do not hold for minor difficulties, and do not let trifles feed doubts. We formulate our faith in creed statements and after a century or two find that the church and creed are not in exact accord. There is nothing to wonder at. It is the same old question of the letter and the spirit. The science of ethics is becoming the science of what is rather than what ought to be, and if the doctrine of rights survived at all, it is the determination that whatever is, is right.

In the name of reason, I protest against this tendency in thought. I refuse to abdicate under the direction of popular sentiment. Historic movements, as well as the actions of individuals, must be judged by a standard outside themselves. We cannot eliminate destructive elements as we do not like them, nor can we assert that some elements represent popular claims calls for them. What is written is written, but it will be read with different emphasis in different periods, and will be brought into contact with science and philosophy. Do not hastily assume that every great movement is an organized conspiracy against faith in the supremacy of righteousness of God.

Every generation [illegible] (Illustrious) [illegible] to be [illegible] the [illegible] of [illegible] movement. [illegible]

SCHOOL ENQUIRY.

Mr. Halliday's Resignation Received and Accepted—Charges Against Teachers.

The adjourned meeting of the School Trustees opened last meeting with the usual blank space in the auditorium decorated with the faces of several ladies and gentlemen.

Present were Mr. Hayward (in the chair), Messrs. Wolfenden, R. Erskine, and Mallandaine.

The minutes of the last regular meeting were read and adopted.

BLAND VS. KAYE.

Chairman Hayward suggested that this case be proceeded with.

The parties to the affair prosecuted and defended their own cases.

Mr. Bland having stated at the previous meeting that his boy was ill, as a consequence of a whipping received at the hands of Mr. Kaye, a certificate was read from Dr. Milne to the effect that the boy was ill of typhoid fever. He, the doctor, had examined the boy's hand after the whipping and the report was already in the hands of the board. He could not say that his present illness was due to the whipping.

Mr. Bland reiterated what he said at the previous meeting; also that Mr. Halliday had asked him not to proceed with the case as Mr. Kaye was about to resign. Mr. Halliday said he would see that the boy was not whipped again. Mr. Kaye did not know what boy was making faces and doing the mischief and went down and whipped his (Mr. B.'s) boy. The boy was well when he went to school and he was sick now. A rawhide produced by the secretary he claimed was not the weapon used by Mr. Kaye. Its present abbreviated form at both ends was due to the pranks of the boys of the school.

The chairman asked if he had shown the cut on the first boy's head to Dr. Milne. Mr. Bland answered that he had not because he thought it would not be repeated.

Proceeding Mr. Bland requested that several communications produced at last meeting be re-read and stated his case at length.

The chairman asked if the prosecutor had any witnesses. Mr. Bland replied that Mr. Halliday was to have appeared but that gentleman was not on.

Mr. Kaye being called stated his case. He said he had been very much agitated when he had heard the charges before the Board at the last meeting, but when he had gone home and reflected on them he was very much amused, because there was not one particle of them correct. At the last meeting Mr. Bland had said that Mrs. Robertson had gone around with a petition to have him (Mr. Kaye) removed. In answer to that he produced a letter signed M. M. Robertson, to the effect that it was not true. Mr. Bland he had heard had threatened to put a bead on him and Mrs. Bland to horsewhip him. He had to request them to bring on their forces one at a time. (Laughter.)

Mr. Bland asked permission to ask some questions. He asked Mr. Kaye (through the chairman) if he (Mr. Kaye) did not call his boys young hoodlums before Mr. Halliday.

Mr. Kaye—I said to Mr. Bland that his boys behaved like young hoodlums.

Mr. Bland—Did I not say that if I was not a younger man than he is, I would throw him down the stairs.

Mr. Kaye—From what I remember of Mr. Bland's language I quite believe he did.

To a question Mr. Kaye denied that he struck the boy on the head with the rawhide.

Mr. Bland proceeded with another lengthy elaboration of his case which did it very much injury.

This closed the case of the prosecution and defence.

Col. Wolfenden reviewed the charge that the boy was struck on the head, that he was sick as a result of the blow and the report from Dr. Milne contradicting that statement. He thought a mountain had been made out of a mole hill.

Mr. Heisterman was sure if his boy was injured as badly as Mr. Bland claimed, that he would take it into the courts. But Mr. Bland made a mistake in threatening Mr. Kaye.

Mr. Erskine said Mr. Bland had taken the boy in to him. A mark was then on the hand, it was slightly swollen and inflamed but he did not consider it was very serious. As Mr. Bland had shown here to-night, he was of an excitable nature and had evidently allowed his excitement to get the better of him. Mr. Kaye had made an explanation of the case and the matter should now be allowed to drop.

Mr. Mallandaine—Teachers must not be deprived of their authority. They must have the power to keep their classes in order. It is very well to see that there are no bones broken, no undue punishment, but to carp at every little punishment, making a mountain out of a mole hill, is simply a waste of time.

Mr. Erskine—It was stated by Mr. Bland that the rawhide produced had been cut. Mr. Bland should know as he and Mr. Macleod had portions of it at the meeting of the householders in the morning.

Mr. Heisterman—I do not think the rawhide should be used at all.

On motion of Mr. Erskine, seconded by Mr. Mallandaine, the Board decided unanimously that the charges had not been sustained, and that the case be dismissed.

Chairman Hayward said, after the general meeting in the morning, he and two other trustees had visited the schools and had enquired into the matter of the weapons used for punishing the children. In all the divisions he found only four, which were here produced. In doing so Mr. Hayward volunteered the remark that the best order appeared to be in the room with the biggest rawhide.

MR. HALLIDAY'S CASE.

The chairman having asked that the next business be proceeded with, Secretary Wolfenden read the following:

VICTORIA, BC, June 9th, 1890.

R. WOLFENDEN, SECRETARY SCHOOL BOARD.

SIR,—I hereby tender my resignation as Principal of the Victoria Boys' School to take effect on the 31st July next.

Trusting that my management of the school and the progress made by the pupils during my term of office has been such as to merit your approbation.

I am, yours truly,
J. A. HALLIDAY.

This was received with applause by those present.

Mr. Erskine moved, seconded by Secretary Wolfenden, that the resignation be accepted.

Mr. Mallandaine moved that it be not received, and commented with a defence of Mr. Halliday's character. He claimed that Mr. Halliday had been an efficient and successful teacher.

Mr. Heisterman seconded the motion holding that Mr. Halliday was being made a scapegoat for the fault of others.

Secretary Wolfenden, in order that there should be no mistake about the case in the minds of those present, read the communications already published, viz., those written by Mrs. Winsby—the original and the copy—and a letter of Rev. Mr. Macleod. He also said that Mr. Halliday, in addition to the serious complications which he had made with these letters had admitted that he had given the Rev. Mr. Macleod information which had led him to make serious charges against his (Mr. H's) fellow teachers which were not correct.

Mr. Hayward said that he wished to make a necessary explanation, and he did so with a great deal of regret. He and Col. Wolfenden had called on Mr. Heisterman to-day and they had discussed Mr. Halliday's offence. It was admitted that it was a most serious one and could only be settled by Mr. Halliday's resignation. It was then suggested that a fourth trustee should be seen in respect to the matter, in order that a majority of the board might decide on the matter, and if it was decided to demand Mr. Halliday's resignation that he should be notified. Mr. Erskine was seen and he agreed to this course, and the trustees proceeded to the school accordingly. Mr. Heisterman now backs out. He is unstable as water. (Applause.)

Mr. Heisterman—I have got new light on this matter since then.

Mr. Erskine confirmed what Mr. Hayward had said in respect to himself, and added that it was not the first time that Mr. Heisterman had done the same thing.

The resolution being put, Messrs. Erskine and Wolfenden voted "aye," Messrs. Mallandaine and Heisterman "no"—two against two.

Mr. Hayward—Well, I vote that the resignation be accepted. (Applause.)

THE WINSBY CASE.

A strongly-worded communication was received from Mr. W. P. Winsby, charging Miss Cameron with unduly whipping his boy. Miss Cameron's explanation was also read.

Col. Wolfenden said it would be necessary to have Mrs. Winsby and Miss Cameron before the board in order to make a thorough investigation.

On motion it was decided to refer the inquiry to a special committee composed of Messrs. Hayward, Wolfenden, Erskine and Mallandaine. Mr. Heisterman suggested that reporters should not be present.

It was decided that the committee should meet next Wednesday evening.

Meeting adjourned.

MONTREAL SHOOTING AFFRAY.

An American Shot by His Wife's Brother—Unfortunate Family Troubles.

MONTREAL, June 8.—A sensational shooting affair occurred at 4 o'clock this afternoon in St. Catharine street, as a result of which Eugene Cowles, son of the late Edward Cowles, the well known editor of Cleveland, Ohio, lies in the general hospital with a bullet wound in his neck which may result in his death. Cowles and his wife, who is a daughter of Mr. Hale, a wealthy Cleveland banker, have not been living together for some time. Cowles has been in business in Lockport, N.Y., and, his health failing, he recently determined to go on his vacation. He made a visit to Cleveland to see his mother and and friends, and, on leaving there last Monday, he took with him his 10-year-old daughter Florence unknown to her mother. The child's absence was soon discovered and a search began. When Mrs. Cowles learned that her husband had taken the child she at once began suit for divorce, and an order was issued by the court giving her possession of the child. On hearing of the case Cowles went to Toronto and thither went Mrs. Cowles, accompanied by her brother, sister and attorney, Judge Ingersoll, of Cleveland. When they reached Toronto they found Cowles had gone to Montreal, taking the child with him. He had previously said he was willing to have an interview with his wife, but would talk with no one else. It is alleged that his object is to obtain an additional allowance. Four months ago, on the death of his father, he was cut off with an allowance of $25,000. Previous to this, it is said, he had been living at a rapid rate in company with a woman of questionable character, named Clara Liemenhiuss. Cowles has been twice to Europe with the woman, and on one occasion had to cable to his wife to come to his aid. She did when she recovered from an illness, when he left her and returned with another woman to America. On another occasion he lived with her in San Francisco, they occupying adjoining rooms, and he alleged she was his widowed sister.

The pursuing party arrived in Montreal this morning and an interview was arranged. Cowles in the morning took the child to a convent and instructed the mother superior not to give her up without a written order from him. He then returned to the hotel ready for the interview, which he wished to be private, with his wife. Her brother would not consent to this and accompanied them in a cab for a drive. The interview was in progress, when Cowles suddenly made a movement to draw a revolver. Hale instantly drew his and shot him, with the result as above. Doctors to-night think Cowles is not in danger.

Sympathy here is with Hale and Mrs. Cowles, and it is believed that Cowles intended to kill her. Hale is in prison. Judge Dugan will issue a mandamus to-morrow to get the child from the convent, when a guardian will be appointed.

Cowles who was seen in the hospital was too ill to make any extended statement. He affirmed that what he had done in regard to his daughter was done in regard to the mother of her. He is one of the best legal talent in the United States and Canada. He said that he and his wife were in the way of having an amicable settlement, and deprecated Hale's interference as unnecessary and hurtful. He expressed the warmest interest in his family and only resented outside interferences. He was sorry for what had been done, and felt keenly his painful position. When well enough he said that he would show that he had been the victim of wrongs, and that he has been hardly dealt with.

OUR OTTAWA LETTER.

MEETING OF ROYAL SOCIETY OF CANADA.

Its Inaugural Meeting—A Damper Thrown on it at the Start—Hudson Bay Railway—Denominational Parliaments—Duke of Connaught's Visit.

From our own Correspondent.]

OTTAWA, Ont., May 31.—If I except nomination day, to which I alluded in my last letter, the only event of the present week which has occurred at the capital worthy of special mention was the meeting of the Royal Society, which sat for three days. This literary and scientific institution held its sessions in the railway committee room of the House of Commons. The attendance of members was small and the interest manifested in the proceedings by the outside public was even less. In the days when Princess Louise was a resident of the capital and her husband, a scion of the House of Argyle, was Governor-General everything genuine had to be under the patronage or receive the sanction of royalty. Those were the days when it was unpopular to "keep a window" and when all eyes of the so-called fashionable class at all events, were turned towards Government House, where the nucleus of a royal court was about to be established. Neither the marquis or his estimable wife, the princess, were responsible for this. Col. de Winton, then military secretary, and his local advisers in the civil service, were rather to blame, at any rate it was during the time mentioned that it dawned upon certain literary and scientific genius to have a society stamped with the hand of royalty. The old and oft-quoted saying that there was "no royal road to learning" had no significance to them. The work of organization was speedily prosecuted and quickly completed. It was arranged to hold the first meeting in the senate chamber, when Her Royal Highness was to be in attendance and assist in the inaugural meeting. The elite of the city was invited to a seat on the floor of the senate and the less favoured were allowed the privilege of attending in the different galleries. This was during the summer of 1881 or 1882—I speak from memory. Every one who was invited not only put in an appearance but many more would have liked to have received an invitation. It was an extremely hot day. The place was crowded to the doors. Many were unable to obtain seats, and the press had to be content with standing room. Ladies closely vested, tightly laced and adorned in low dress, in fact frightfully low in those days, were sweltering in the heat despite an extreme use of their fans. They consoled themselves with the idea that the proceedings were to be of short duration.

THE OPENING ADDRESS.

After the members were introduced to Her Royal Highness and received by His Excellency the Marquis of Lorne, it was so arranged that Dr. Dawson, now Sir Wm. Dawson, should give the opening address which was expected to be of a brief character. He proceeded to say that his remarks were necessarily to be short, and just then a dozen of reporters were ready to take down every word that fell from his lips. The low tone in which the words were uttered, the rustling of fans, the continual moving of the audience, damped with perspiration, and the fact that the learned doctor had his back to the reporters made it impossible to hear him. Although his matter is generally good his style and tone of speech are exceedingly poor. At the close of half an hour it was expected that he would have concluded, and thus permitted His Excellency and Her Royal Highness to have retired. But no, one half hour passed, another half hour was gone, and so on until nearly three mortal hours had disappeared before Dr. Dawson had resumed his seat. As this was the only meeting of the association which has received anything like public attention the doctor has been credited with killing the society on the outstart.

TOO DEMOCRATIC.

Canada is too democratic a country for the growth and perpetuation of things royal. There is perhaps no more loyal and devoted subjects of Her Majesty in any portion of Queen Victoria's domain, but that is due to the vast liberties we enjoy under a crown to which we are united by a mere silken thread. As the symbol of these privileges Canadians revere the crown but are too democratic to have any great admiration for the trappings which surround a royal court. In fact the word royal attached to this society has done more to hazard its existence than anything else, for it must be admitted that while there are a number of "old foggies" in the society still there are a few eminent men of letters and scientists of no mean order. Dr. Bourinot, clerk of the House of Commons, and Prof. G. M. Dawson, of the geological survey, are two good specimens. The latter has devoted much attention to the geology and biology of British Columbia, and gave a very interesting couple of papers on these subjects at the last meeting. But as far as the society is concerned as a whole it is of little practical value, and will live just so long as the Dominion subsidy is granted to it.

THE DUKE OF CONNAUGHT.

On Tuesday next we expect a visit from the Duke and Duchess of Connaught. Their stay will be brief. They arrive in the forenoon from Montreal, and after lunch at Earnscliffe with the Premier, and likely the acceptance of a civic address somewhere, they will return to Montreal in the evening. An effort is being made to get the mayor to proclaim a half holiday.

HUDSON BAY RAILWAY.

Ever since prorogation the Government have been considering the advisability of some means of granting such aid to the Hudson Bay Railway as will ensure the road at a very early day. The plan which is now before the Council is to give some $30,000 for twenty years to the road as far as the Saskatchewan, in addition to the land grant which it now enjoys. The Government consider that whether or no the navigation of the straits is feasible the building of the road this far will always serve as a good colonization road, no matter what may be the ultimate fate of the Hudson Bay road project. If the grant is made there is little doubt but the scheme will be successfully floated in the English market.

RELIGIOUS DENOMINATIONS.

Two parliaments of the church will sit in Ottawa very soon. Next week the Montreal district Methodist Conference meet here, and arrangements are now in progress for the meeting of the General Assembly of the Church of Scotland in this city. The capital is turning out a favorite place for such important gathering. SLANTOWN.

SOME SCRAPS OF HISTORY.

Records Handed Down from October Last, Which will Assist the Electors.

At the request of several interested persons the TIMES has consented to reprint Capt. Irving's unbiased opinions of the Hon. J. H. Turner, published in letter form in October last. It is believed these opinions will prove of great value just now, when it is so important that the electors should select the right man.

On the 2nd day of October, 1889, a letter published in the TIMES over the signature of "John Irving," struck at the root of matters by saying:

"From the lack of interest taken by the Colonist, necessary to get at the real facts, it is evident that it is as necessary in its actions as the Hon. Mr. Turner in his. All statements made by it when its personal interests are at stake, or when they come into conflict with the general interest or welfare of the country, should be taken with a grain of salt."

Having made this very promising beginning, "John Irving"—that is how he signed himself—proceeded as follows:

"Allowing the apparent excuses made by your contemporary on the Hon. Mr. Turner's behalf to be well founded there exists no reason whatever why he should be permitted to break the law (as it is admitted he has done), to the serious detriment of our shipping interests, and in direct violation of the regulations framed by the Dominion Government for their protection."

That is very plain talk.

AN OPEN LETTER.

Under the above Captain John Irving again wrote to THE TIMES on the 4th day of October, 1889, as follows:

"The letter of Messrs. Turner, Beeton & Co., in this morning's Colonist evades the point at issue, which no doubt will be dealt with by the proper authorities. That the coasting laws have been grossly infringed, to the serious disadvantage of Canadian bottoms trading in these waters, there seems but little doubt. Whether Mr. Turner repudiates the responsibility for it or not, the fact is well known that the arrangement was made by him to suit his own convenience."

Mr. Irving's letter relates the wanderings of the Lakme among the canneries of the Province and then summoning new literary force strikes the following terrific blow:

'By Mr. Turner's action in this matter he not only does what he can to cripple our shipping interests but he takes work from the laborers of Victoria!!!'

That is plain English again.

Having laid these serious charges at the door of the Finance Minister of British Columbia, on the 4th of October, Mr. Irving drops him for that day only, to take him up again on the 5th.

HON. MR. TURNER AND HOME INDUSTRY.

This is the striking heading under which Captain John Irving discussed the Hon. Mr. Turner, Finance Minister, with whom he is now running on the Government ticket on the 5th day of October, 1889. Mr. Irving said of Mr. Turner on that day.

"The Hon. Mr. Turner's actions as a private individual should be consistent with the position he occupies as a public servant, or, as the TIMES very pertinently stated, he should resign."

Proceeding the captain pointed out Mr. Turner's duty. He said: "The Hon. Mr. Turner was elected by the citizens to guard and protect their interests and to use the honorable position entrusted to him to advance the general welfare of the country to the best of his ability, for which he receives a tidy sum, paid indirectly by the public to remunerate him for the loss of time and attention to the important duties of his office."

Following upon this Mr. Irving gave his opinion as to the manner in which Mr. Turner performed his duties. He said: "How well he (Mr. Turner) earns it (the tidy sum) and how consistently he endeavors to repay the confidence reposed in him I leave the public to judge. If it is by supporting and diverting all the trade he can from this country to American shipping he certainly is accomplishing his object with marked success."

The intelligent reader is here presented with extracts from three letters written by Capt. Irving on the 2nd, 4th and 5th of October, 1889. If anyone questions the accuracy of these extracts or believes that they in any way misrepresent either Mr. Turner or the writer of them, the TIMES will be pleased to publish them in full. They are published with the belief that they are fair subjects of public criticism and should receive the fullest circulation at this time when Mr. Turner—a public servant—is on trial before the great jury of his constituents.

Mrs. Langtry's appearance in "Esther Sandraz" has evoked an almost unanimous opinion from the critics that she has made decided progress. She can now be really furious in denunciation. Her dresses are more splendid than ever, impossible as that may seem. One illustrating an entirely new principle of decoration was described as follows: "She wore a dress white in front to enhance the tender alabaster of her bust, and black behind to heighten the subtle gold of her neck."

When Baby was sick, we gave her Castoria.
When she was a Child, she cried for Castoria.
When she became Miss, she clung to Castoria.
When she had Children, she gave them Castoria.

VICTORIA CITY ELECTION

The Opposition Candidates.

ROBERT BEAVEN,
JOHN GRANT,
GEORGE L. MILNE,
FRANK G. RICHARDS, Jr.

MISSTATEMENTS CORRECTED—A BLIND INSTRUCTOR.

The Colonist corrects a statement of Mr. BROWN, who is a candidate at New Westminster, with reference to last Session's legislation giving the municipalities the power to partially exempt improvements.

Mr. BROWN was incorrect in saying that it was voted down, for it is the law to-day. Neither is the Colonist correct in saying that the question came up in the House on a bill introduced by Mr. DUCK, amending the Assessment Act. The Bill was introduced by Mr. BEAVEN, as an amendment to the Municipal Act, and, although an attempt was made to defeat it by a side issue, it passed the House.

Mr. DUCK's attempt to amend the Assessment Act was an entirely different affair. He was contending that as regards real estate (that is the land and the improvements thereon) situate within the municipality—which is taxed by the municipal assessor—that the income derived from such real estate should not be taxed by the Provincial assessor.

We believe this to be the true interpretation of the law to-day as the statutes stand, but the Government think otherwise and assess the income thus derived. Mr. DUCK wished to place the question beyond controversy and except income so derived, but the Speaker ruled his bill out of order, on the ground that such legislation could only be introduced by the Government. The Colonist says Mr. ROBSON was in favor of the DUCK bill. If such is the case why did he not take the necessary steps to make it law? Mr. ROBSON is leader of the Government and the fact that he did not take Mr. DUCK's bill and make it law is another proof of a further misstatement of the organ. It is surprising how reckless the organ is becoming. If it had given the matter five minutes consideration and had consulted the books and papers which it was necessary to have access to before writing on the subject at all, it would have saved itself from making statements which are incorrect.

It cannot now be decided whether the organ stated what was untrue, knowing it to be untrue, or did what is very nearly as bad, recklessly make statements without ascertaining their correctness.

AN EXPLANATION.

MR. THOS. KEITH of Nanaimo was elected to the House of Assembly on the workingman's ticket, a ticket essentially distinct and indeed antagonistic to Robsonianism. Later it was announced in the Free Press that Mr. KEITH wished it distinctly understood that he was an independent supporter of the Government, and that he was in no sense identified with the Opposition. On the strength of this presumably inspired statement in the Press, the TIMES thought Mr. KEITH was doing obtained his election by sailing under false colors, because, taking the character of his speech to his constituents in conjunction with the platform he was elected upon, if not identifying himself with the Opposition, he at least could not consistently declare himself an independent supporter of the Government. An independent supporter of the Government, as the TIMES understands it, does not imply disagreement with the present policy of the Government. It means anything, it means an attitude of independence with respect to the future policy of the Government. Now, Mr. KEITH's speech was unmistakably antagonistic to the Government, which left him no option but to affiliate with the Opposition, or to declare himself an "Independent" without the qualifying phrases "supporter of the Government." Accordingly, the announcement of the Free Press, to the effect that Mr. KEITH was an independent supporter of the Government appeared to the TIMES a radical change of front, a change which, it was morally certain working men could not endorse without stultifying themselves. The TIMES takes pleasure in announcing that Mr. KEITH has not changed his front and that the statements which appeared in the Free Press were unauthorized. Mr. KEITH has written the TIMES to that effect and accompanying the letter was a printed statement of the workingmen's platform which, for the delectation of those who have any curiosity in the matter is below reproduced.

WORKINGMEN'S PLATFORM.

NANAIMO, B. C., MAY 26th, 1890.—The following is the platform prepared by the Workingmen's Campaign Committee:

TO THE ELECTORS OF THE CITY OF NANAIMO, B. C.:

Believing that the first principles of Representative Government should be to accomplish the greatest good to the greatest number, to secure the workers the full enjoyment of the wealth they create, sufficient leisure in which to develope their intellectual, moral and social faculties, in a word to enable them to share in the gains and honors of advancing civilization, to secure these objects, we must have men to advance our cause on the floor of the Legislative Hall of our Province. Therefore vote only for men who will advocate the following demands:

1. That the land, the heritage of the people, be reserved for actual settlers, not another acre for Corporations or Speculators, and all land so held at present be taxed to its full rental value.

2. The adoption of measures providing for the health and safety of those engaged in Mining, Manufacturing and Building Industries, and for the indemnification of those engaged therein for injuries received through lack of necessary safeguards.

3. The enactment of laws providing for arbitration between employer and employees, and to enforce the decision of the arbitrators.

4. The adoption of a Mechanics' Lien Law, giving to mechanics and laborers a first lien upon the product of their labor to the extent of their full wages.

5. That a clause be inserted in all charters granted by the Provincial Government prohibiting the employment of Chinese.

6. The repeal of the unjust laws passed at the last session, giving vast tracts of land and royalties on minerals therein to railroad corporations.

7. That we condemn the policy of creating and fostering monopolies, as they tend to prevent legitimate competition, leaving it possible for the few to accumulate vast fortunes at the expense of the many.

8. That we consider the present system of taxation to be unjust, therefore we demand that a graduated income tax be levied.

9. That we do all in our power to further the advancement of the short hours movement.

10. In the interests of education we consider that the control of the schools should be left in the hands of the local board, the Government merely exercising a general supervision over them.

The above platform was presented to me as the workingmen's candidate, all of which I fully endorse, and if elected, will do all in my power to have suitable laws enacted to carry the same into effect. THOMAS KEITH.

There is not a clause in the foregoing which is not antagonistic to the Government policy as it was exemplified during the last session of the House. There is scarcely a clause which does not either call for the repeal or important modification of Government measures. The man elected on the above platform must either be an Oppositionist or an Independent. Clause 4, 5, 6, 7 and 10 are distinctively Opposition policy. If, however, Mr. KEITH prefers to call them the policy of the Independents there can be no objection. An independent policy and an opposition policy so nearly identical practically obliterates the line of demarcation between the two. Mr. KEITH is to be congratulated for the prompt action he has taken to remove any misapprehension as to his political status.

MR. VERNON IN KAMLOOPS.

They have been holding political meetings in Kamloops, and in the speech of Mr. VERNON, which must be correct as it appears in the Sentinel, we have the following self depreciation of the policy of the Government. He (Mr. VERNON) said that an "attempt had been made towards sinking artesian wells, and he was free to confess it was a very unhappy effort." The Government had been disappointed in Mr. McKAY, who had represented the machinery in every way suitable for the experiment. Mr. VERNON also informed his hearers that Mr. ROSS had thrown up his contract, but he omitted to state the reason for his so doing. Mr. SEMLIN explained why Mr. ROSS had done so. The well-boring machinery procured by the Government from Petrolia was defective, and that was the reason why Mr. ROSS declined to undertake the contract. Passing on to the North Arm bridge, Mr. VERNON assumed the responsibility for that disaster, so him fell the blame. We may suggest that in assuming personal responsibility in this matter, Mr. VERNON renders himself peculiarly liable, and we shall expect him in case of his election to forego his salary for a year or six. Next, Mr. VERNON treated of the Nicola sufferers, explaining that $1800 had been forwarded to the commissioners, with instructions that only those who were actually in need should be assisted. If the commissioners had not acted up to their instructions, he could not see how the Government should be blamed. It would appear to us that if the head of the Department of Public Works is responsible for the collapse of the North Arm bridge, the head of the department who disbursed the Nicola indigent fund is responsible for the mal-appropriation of it. The fact of the matter is, notwithstanding the magnanimous position taken by Mr. JOHN CLAPPERTON, that the committee must be held responsible for the distribution of the fund, the Government is to blame. The TIMES has too high an opinion of Mr. CLAPPERTON's integrity to suppose that he, as one of the commissioners, fully acquainted with the situation, as he must have been, would have assumed the responsibility of giving to men who were wealthy a portion of the indigent fund. Mr. CLAPPERTON, doubtless, as he said, found it impossible to follow the instructions of the Government to the letter. That Mr. CLAPPERTON, however, assumed the responsibility of distributing the fund as he did without the assent of the Government, the TIMES nor anybody else will believe unless he admits it over his own signature. When the election shall be over Mr. CLAPPERTON owes to the public an explanation of the facts in the case. His political friends by that time will either be politically dead or in a position to pursue their weary round of blundering and bribery.

SOME OF MR. TURNER'S VOTES.

On the 22nd of March, 1887, Mr. BEAVEN moved to amend the Act incorporating the New Westminster and Southern Railway Company, by inserting a clause prohibiting the employment of Chinese by the Company. Mr. TURNER voted against the resolution and in favor of the Chinese. On the same day Mr. BEAVEN endeavored to secure the adoption of the same amendment, when the Kootenay and Athabasca Railway Company's bill, and the Delta Railway Company bill were before the House, but in both instances Mr. TURNER opposed him and assisted in voting the resolution down. On the 5th of April, Mr. TURNER again evidenced his pro-Chinese sympathies and voted against the same amendment when the first named bill was again under consideration. Consistent throughout Mr. TURNER again on the 6th of April, 1887, voted against a similar prohibitory clause which Mr. BEAVEN moved to the Act to aid the development of quartz mines. This Act provided for bonuses and guarantees to quartz mining companies, and the leader of the Opposition was of opinion that there could be no objection to excluding Chinese from working in quartz mines subsidized with public moneys, but he was mistaken. Mr. TURNER objected and the amendment was defeated.

On the 5th April, 1888, Mr. TURNER voted against the following clauses, which it was proposed to add to the Coal Mines Regulation Act: "And no Chinese shall be allowed to work underground in any mine to which this Act applies." All the Opposition members supported the amendment, and last session they had the gratification of seeing Mr. TURNER and the rest of the Government turn right-about-face on this important question.

On the 16th April, 1888, Mr. TURNER voted to impose the onerous and unjust school tax upon his constituents. This tax is filched from the city treasury and amounts to $6000 per annum. Had Mr. TURNER objected to it, the Government would have been compelled to abandon the iniquitous impost. TURNER and DUCK sailed in the same boat, and in the same boat let them now go to a common political death. They were not sent to the Legislature to place burdens upon Victoria and the other cities that are not borne by the Province generally. Elect Mr. TURNER and he will do the same thing again.

Like Mr. DUCK, Mr. TURNER was anxious that the people should know as little as possible about the finances of the Province, and on the 19th April, 1888, voted against a proposition to publish classified quarterly statements of revenue and expenditure.

On the 28th February, 1889, Mr. TURNER said, by his vote, that it was right for the Government to refrain from "giving effect to the report of a Select Committee" which had been adopted by the House.

EDITORIAL NOTES.

[illegible] just arrived from the east, where politicians and politics have been uppermost for some weeks, attended the meeting on Saturday night. He had also attended meetings in Vancouver and New Westminster. His opinion was that the Opposition candidates in Victoria made the best showing by all odds, and that the ticket would be considered a good one anywhere.

SINGLE TAX VS. COLONIST.

The Colonist having made up its mind that the labor vote in this city is lost to the Government, seeks to reduce Mayor GRANT's majority in an attempt to prejudice against him the small property holders. In this effort the Colonist will scarcely succeed, and for several reasons: First, Mayor GRANT is not a single tax man in the sense that HENRY GEORGE lays down the principle. Secondly, small property holders have latitudinarian views on the question of taxation, for on them, under our present system, the burden of taxation falls. Third, granting that single tax was a distinct issue, that is to say, the HENRY GEORGE single tax, it is not a system which can be carried into effect for many years to come. The right of individual ownership of land is a deeply seated principle with the majority of people on this continent, and not until numerous expedients have been employed without ameliorating the unequal conditions which now exist, will the people consent to the adoption of the GEORGE system. There is not the slightest danger of the present generation of land owners, nor their heirs and assigns losing their land. We have, then, in single tax a bugbear as it is treated by our contemporary; pure balderdash; the frantic whoop of an organ at its last wit's ends for something to say in behalf of its friends.

THE ONE SIDED SCHOOL TAX.

The Supreme bench of this city has declared the school tax constitutional, and until its opinion is reversed the public must accept it as such. The constitutionality of the school tax, however, does not necessarily preclude its repeal. The Supreme bench may be perfectly right, but if the people are opposed to a constitutional clause, they can get rid of it by sending men to the House who are opposed to such things. The TIMES has frequently pointed out that if within the limits of the constitution, as interpreted by our pundits, the Legislature has the power to inflict a special tax on communities, that power may be extended indefinitely, to the point where it will no longer be borne, where the people will rise up against it in overt rebellion. It is a self-evident proposition, patent to the crudest intellect, that if the school tax is good law, the power of the legislature with respect to communities is circumscribed only by their inclinations and their power to execute them. The TIMES does not believe that the constitution contemplates anything of the kind, nor does the TIMES believe that the majority of the people essentially differ from it. But as the law was forced on to the country by a blundering mob, and for some inscrutable reason endorsed by the Supreme bench, the only course open is to send men to the House who will move for its repeal. Aside from the fact that Victoria is rich and can stand it (that seems to be the principle on which the House has acted), the law should be repealed as affording an intrinsically dangerous precedent for future spoliation. There is no reason why the House may not increase the tax at its option. Is any taxpayer in Victoria prepared to say that he would submit to the doubling up of the tax should the House in the infinitude of its power see fit to inflict it? But the House will not inflict it. It would be the political death knell of every city member who should support such procedure. Granted that such would be the case, the law would hold good until a new legislature was contened, and hence during four or five years the spoliation would go on. Messrs. TURNER and DUCK voted for this abominable measure. In conjunction with the country members who had just as soon see Victoria despoiled as not, they put their seal to this flagrant act of injustice. The TIMES would urge upon the electors the necessity of giving this question a calm, impartial study. In so doing they can already arrive at any other conclusion than that Messrs. TURNER and DUCK are unsafe men to rest with the power of legislation.

Jack Rollings' Philosophy.

Genius, like the young eagle, don't have few main easy trial trips, but when it is full fledged, pushes boldly out, even toward the sun.

Fortune is represented as blind, and those who receive most of her favors go it blind.

A Bootblack's Secret.

It has been noticed for some time that a certain Washington bootblack was more prosperous than his fellows. He loafed less on the street corners. He seemed always to be going somewhere; he was always busy.

"Dat's a secret," the little Afro-American would remark when his competitors asked him how he got so much work.

It was useless for them to follow him. They could not get his formula out of him by kicks or cuffs. Spies had their trouble for their reward. Nothing short of dollars and cents and a business transaction could worm from him his golden sesame to prosperity.

At last twenty ragamuffins as a joke each dropped a nickel in the hat and told the young Napoleon of the street it would be his if he would tell, and he agreed to if he could have his nickels in his fist.

"Co'se yo' kin," said a big boy. "'Cause we'll lick ye if yo' lie and ketch ye if yo' run."

"Sputhin' 'tall," said Napoleon, when all the arrangements were completed, "than puttin' scent in my blackin'. I buys five cents worth of ile of cloves an' mixes it with the black, an' gemmen like it better'n they does the smell of m'lasses black. A lady up on Connecticut avenoo tole me how when she called me in t' black her little boy's shoes"——

The recital was ended with a whoop from twenty throats and forty legs were scrambling toward the nearest drug store where oil of cloves might be had, while the Napoleon stood contemplating the twenty nickels for which he had parted with the secret of his undue prosperity.—Washington Letter.

In a Boston Street Car.

In a crowded Columbus avenue car Saturday evening. A stout woman, radiant in silks and diamonds, and with a florid complexion, denoting health or rouge, enters. Directly in front of where she stands sits a slim, pale youth with "consumption" written in every line of his careworn face.

The car sways to and fro and the woman sways with it. Each time she approaches his side of the car she almost smothers the young man in her furbelows. She looks down upon him from her stately height with a scornful air which says plainly, "Why are you not gentleman enough to give up your seat to me?"

He finally succumbs, evidently thinking it preferable to stand than have his life crushed out, and resigns his seat. A gray-headed old gentleman, with "solid man of Boston" stamped upon him has been watching the proceedings. As alert as a boy he springs to his feet. "Take my seat, my boy," he says, half kindly, half irascibly. "I'm far better able to stand than you are. As for that woman she looks strong enough to carry the car."—Boston Record.

The Indians of San Blas.

The San Blas Indian is not such a bad specimen of the human race as might be supposed, when it is remembered that his ancestors were wont to rub themselves well with cocoanut oil and roll in the sand to complete their attire before attending a state dinner or an inauguration ball, on the election of a brave to a sheiffainship. They have become somewhat civilized since then. They appear to be a cross between the North American Indian and the negro. They are large and well formed men, for the most part, possessing splendid teeth and fairly intelligent faces. Their chief industry is gathering accounts. While they are not fond of work, traders who visit them say they are far more energetic than the North American Indians, and can always be relied upon to carry out any task which they agree to perform.—Cor. New York Commercial Advertiser.

Bidding for a Lost Pocketbook.

Not long ago I went to the business place of an auctioneer to see the sights, and while there I lost my pocketbook, containing $200. I told the auctioneer about it, and requested him to announce that I would give $100 for its return. The auctioneer stated my proposition. Then I heard a drawling voice from away over in the corner say, "I'll give $123." They were still bidding on it when I left.—Interview in Louisville Times.

THE ROAD TO KOOTENAY.

OUR CORRESPONDENT ARRIVES AT NELSON CITY.

Bonner's Ferry the Principal Loafing Place on the road to Kootenay—A Great Mosquito Ranch—A Pioneer Steamer—The Miners Have Grievances.

Bonner's Ferry, Idaho, is the principal loafing place on the way to Kootenay lake. It is a trading station, log built, with overhanging eaves, and benches before saloon doors, where prospectors sit all day long and talk minerals, and the mule trains come and go, and the stage coach rumbles down to the stables, and shaggy men in buckskin shirts chew the tobacco of contentment and talk about bears. A fine old ragged frontier air, and the company of wild, large-hearted men, is to eye and mind eminently refreshing after city life, and your correspondent did after the manner of the local Romans, and loafed five days in camp with great content.

The humours of the steamer Galena and of the route would take a long time to recite, as long indeed as it took us to follow patiently each big S of a perfect Chinese puzzle of a river. The valley of the Kootenay, from mountain side to mountain side, was one blue flood; and through it there wound in mighty curves two parallel bends of cotton wood and poplar trees with the river between. One could not but be fascinated by the contemplation of this marvellous disposition of nature and of her magnificent liberality in flooding these meadow lands in spring, that they may bring forth from their fresh mud a swarming population of mosquitos during the summer heat.

But why, you will ask, are these lands flooded? A little explanation is needed. The Kootenay River, rising in the Rockies not very far south of the Canadian Pacific railway, runs down past the sources of her parent stream the Columbia—a most unnatural disposition—and thence between the Rockies and that great Cariboo chain locally known as the Selkirks. Reaching the south end of the Selkirks in Montana, the Kootenay sweeps westward round their bases and then northward nearly parallel to its former course. Returning from its little trip through Montana and Northern Idaho the Kootenay occupies completely a vast and awful rent which here divides the Selkirks from the Purcell Range. This gap has in part been filled with meadow lands, but the rest is a lake, Kootenay lake, ninety miles long, receiving the Lardo from the north, and the Kootenay as aforesaid from the south. The outlet is only a lateral carryon half way down the west side, a gap too small for the combined Lardo and Kootenay, a passage so small that the lake is backed up to a level which floods the meadow lands every spring and makes them useless. What shall be done to turn this 100,000 acres of mosquito ranches into a productive farming country? It is simple. The outlet must be made wider, and they say that an English syndicate, represented by Mr. Baillie Grohman, is going to do it. Every man in the country will wish this gentleman success; and, as the calculation is very simple as to how many cubic yards of earth must be removed to give the water an ample passage to the Columbia, we are sure he has not undertaken the project except on good grounds.

Meanwhile, the Galena has been calling on the milkman and the butcher, and memory lingers in the Land of the Tin Cup, at those beautiful mosquito-bitten retreats whence issued the milk and beef of civilisation. The Galena is very small, has no berths, and her passengers are fed by relays and are grateful. We called also at the Boundary, the steamer screeching her salutation to the flag. The most humane of all possible customs officers came on board as a passenger, and we knew at first sight that although just he would be merciful and let our new socks pass unexamined.

We had a lady on board—the Wide West her name is—and were on our best behaviour, so that if the customs officer had not been humane we could not anyway have vented our sorrow and indignation in befitting terms in her presence. At last we came to the lake and ultimately to the outlet, the narrow rapid outlet, half way down the west arm, twenty miles down which is Nelson City. We were met by a gale of wind, that happened, just as we turned to go down the arm, to be coming up. There was no little difficulty in getting past, because as I before remarked the thoroughfare is narrow, only wide enough for one at a time. However, we squeezed through and arrived at Nelson City at supper time.

For two weeks now we have been turning loose the full flood of our curiosity upon these unfortunate mines, and have been tolerated with the same wonderful tolerance that the mining people have shown in long dealing with almost intolerable misgovernment. We are preparing a large quantity of wrath, and shall have some facts to say in the next letter which will very greatly interest the readers of the TIMES.

H. R. A. POCOCK.

SULLIVAN SNUBBED.

A Veteran Newspaper Man Refuses to be Introduced to John L.

WASHINGTON, June 10.—A lively little scene occurred at Chamberlains last night. John Russell Young, Senator Squires, Representative Crain, Isaac H. Bromley, a veteran newspaper man, and Phil Thompson, of Kentucky, were in the Buffett when in stalked John L. Sullivan accompanied by Jack Barnett. Sullivan had been drinking but was not drunk. He knew John Russell Young and at once made for him and his party. The two shook hands and John L. at once ordered five "beis" as he called it. Young then introduced him to Senator Squires and was about to present him to Bromley when the latter drew himself up and turned away, "Ain't you going to shake hands," thundered Sullivan. "No sir," responded Bromley. "I am not." "Why, what's the matter with me?" said Sullivan slamming his hand on the back of his head. "Nothing, you are simply a bully and I don't want the acquaintance of bullies." By this time every body was feeling uncomfortable and Bromley was as white as a sheet. It was feared that Sullivan would make a break but he did not. He simply gave Young a gruff good day and muttering something about not staying where he was not wanted turned away, leaving the wine he had ordered untouched.

FRIGHTFUL ACCIDENT.

Two Trains Crash Together, and Killed a Number of Men and Horses.

ST. LOUIS, June 10.—It is reported that a collision of freight trains occurred on the Wabash railway, near Warrentown, 60 miles west of here, early this morning, and the crews of both trains were killed. A carload of ray horses, en route from Latonia to Kansas City, were also killed. The collision was caused by the misunderstanding of orders.

Official notification telegraphed to the Wabash Co. here from their agent at Moberly states that about 1.25 o'clock this morning train No. 26, and engine No. and collided half a mile west of Warrentown with a train being run as second section of No. 5. One of the trains had eight palace horse cars loaded with race-horses en route from Latonia to Kansas City. The accident was caused by an error in train orders. Second section of train No. 5 had orders to run 2 hours and 5 minutes late, and the order delivered to No. 26 by the operator at Montgomery read 2 hours and 50 minutes late. Seven men in charge of the race horses were killed and several others injured. Engineer Shinelle had a rib broken, fireman Parsons had his collar bone broken and fireman Brown was severely injured about the legs, brakeman Norton was slightly injured, and no other train men were injured. Engine No. 341 and two palace horse cars of the second section of the train No. 5 and engine No. 286, and 10 cars of train No. 26 were badly wrecked. Fifteen race-horses were killed. The company's surgeons at Moberly and Montgomery, Warrentown went to the scene of the accident. The company expect to have the track cleared by 2 p.m. The names of the killed cannot be ascertained as yet.

ON THE ROCKS.

The Steamer City of Rome Strikes a Rock During a Dense Fog.

LIVERPOOL, June 10.—The steamer City of Rome of the Anchor line which at 11 o'clock yesterday morning while steaming through a dense fog and while bound for New York from this city struck on Fastnett rock arrived here this morning. When leaving the steamer on her arrival the passengers tendered Captain Young an ovation. The behavior of the cabin passengers during the trying period intervening between the striking of the steamer on the rock and the time when it became certain that no immediate danger existed is generally conceded to have been admirable. Most of them calmly dressed themselves before coming on deck to confront whatever fate was in store for them. So dense did the fog prevail at the time of the accident that lights could not be seen at the distance of the vessels length. The City of Rome ran so close up to the rock that from her bow it was possible for persons on board to touch it and a number of passengers discovered people looking over the rock from the Fastnett light house at them. One passenger asserts he had plucked from the crevice of the rock a flower growing there. In the steerage there was great excitement among the women passengers when the vessel struck. Very few of the passengers were aware of the fact that water had rushed into the fore peak until the steamer arrived here.

Bismarck has always been strongly opposed to woman's engaging in any other than home affairs, and has frequently offended his lady friends by the roughness with which he expressed his ideas on the subject. The wife of Count Schouvaloff, the Russian ambassador, it is related, was always quarrelling with Bismarck, and amusing tales are of the spirited disputes that passed between them. Upon one occasion Bismarck was particularly grumpy, and he snubbed not only the countess, but every other lady in the room, in the most brutal manner. As he withdrew from the apartment one of the large Russian mastiffs in the hallway had the temerity to growl at the chancellor, whereupon the Countess Schouvaloff ran to the door and called out sancitly, "Prince Bismarck, don't you dare bite my dog!"

Moses Had Asthma.

My husband had asthma for eight years with severe coughs, and his lungs also were affected. He could neither rest, work nor get relief from any medicine he tried. Some time ago we got Haggard's Pectoral Balsam, and after taking six or eight bottles his cough is entirely cured, the asthma greatly relieved, and his lungs greatly benefitted. MRS. City Hall, Victoria, June 3, 1890. CHARLES SENT, Collector.

The Daily Times.

CITY AND PROVINCIAL.

THE METLAKAHTLA LETTER.

The Famous Document Signed by Mr. Turner—How He Got Out of It.

In the Legislature in February, 1888, Hon. Mr. Beaven, seconded by Mr. McLean, moved the following resolution:

Whereas, Mr. J. H. Turner, a member of the Legislative Assembly, now a member of the Executive Council and Minister of Finance and Agriculture, attached his signature to the following document, which was circulated extensively in the United States of America and Canada:

"To the lovers of civil and religious liberty in America:—The bearer, Mr. Wm. Duncan, for thirty years a devoted missionary of religion and civilization in British North America, and during the whole of that period well known to the undersigned, is on his way to Washington, deputed by the native Christian brethren of Metlakahtla to confer with the United States authorities on matters affecting their interests and desire.

"Like the Pilgrim Fathers of old, this afflicted but prospering and thrifty flock seek a refuge from grievous wrongs, and hope to find it under the American flag. They prefer abandoning the home of their fathers and the precious fruits of their industry, to submitting to the violent seizure of their land and the intolerable stings of religious greed and interference. We, therefore, most respectfully commend Mr. Duncan and his mission to such brothers and friends of our sister country—the land of the free—as may be disposed to use their influence in aid of the oppressed."

(Signed among others)

J. H. TURNER,
Member of Provincial Parliament.

Victoria, B. C., 16th November, 1886.

And whereas many hundreds of the industrial native population of the Province have left "the homes of their fathers" through the instrumentality of the above letter, signed by Mr. Turner, and have settled in the adjoining Territory of Alaska, and deprived the Province of the results of their industry.

And whereas the conduct of the Honorable J. H. Turner in becoming a member of a Government which he considers has allowed such "grievous wrongs" to be inflicted upon a portion of our population and caused them "to submit to such violent seizure of their land," is highly inconsistent with what is right.

This House is of the opinion that the action of the Hon. J. H. Turner in this matter was highly prejudicial to Provincial interests, and that he should be removed from his position as an adviser of His Honor the Lieutenant-Governor.

Colonel Baker moved in amendment, seconded by Mr. Duck:

To strike out all which follows the name "J. H. Turner" on the first line, down to and inclusive of the word "Canada" and insert—"member elect, representing the City of Victoria in the Legislature, on or about the 16th day of November, 1886, before he had been sworn in or taken his seat as such member (in conjunction with others), attached his signature to the following document:"

To strike out the words after "oppressed" except "16th November, 1886," and to add—

"And whereas since the said date, viz., on the 8th day of August, 1887, the said J. H. Turner, accepted the office, under the Crown, of Finance Minister for the Province, and thereby vacated his seat as member of this Assembly;

"And whereas on or about the 20th day of August, 1887, the said Honorable J. H. Turner, was again duly elected as a member of this Assembly whilst holding office as aforesaid, and still holds such office;

"Be it therefore Resolved, that in the opinion of this House the signing of the above document by Mr. Turner is no way prejudices his position as a member of this House or as a Minister of the Crown, and this House has the fullest confidence in his loyalty."

How doth the boy "Honest John,"
Sleekey each shining hair,
A teasing voters all the day
To let him clay in power.

How sweetly doth he smile and bow
And grasp the laborer's palm,
And say, "dear friend, just vote for me,
I'll do things to a charm."

But once elected to his seat,
How quick his friendship fades
For four years more he tells the boys
They all can go to Hades.

Picnic.

Mr. Wilson's Meeting.

Mr. Charles Wilson, the independent candidate, will address the electors at the Victoria Theatre to-night. It is claimed by the friends of Mr. Wilson that his chances for election are excellent. Mr. Wilson is a good speaker and all who are interested in hearing the views of the third party should be at the meeting to-night.

Music.

F. Campbell, jr., manager of the Q. C. Band, has engaged Prof. Whitney, a well known solo cornetist of New York, to lead the band during the coming season, which promises to be a busy one for musicians. The band has been engaged to attend the Sunday School picnic on the 1st of July, and several other contracts are in hand for the summer months.

"Gathering of the Clans."

The committees have been convened and all arrangements made by the St. Andrew's and Caledonian Society for holding the annual picnic on the 4th of next month. It is intended by the committee of management to make the event as great an attraction as ever it was, no expense nor trouble being spared to have good sports, fine decorations, and a good time generally. "The Gathering of the Clans" is one of the great days of the year everywhere, and thousands come at the call of the pibroch.

The Seattle Fire Department.

Chief Engineer Kelleigh of the Seattle fire department, has reported to the board of aldermen of that city that his estimates of the cost to maintain and equip the department for the forthcoming year will be in the neighborhood of $91,000.

A New Cannery.

Among the freight that will go up by the Princess Louise to-morrow morning is two rotorts and other machinery built by the Albion Iron Works for Duncan, Hatcher & Company's new cannery at Lulu Island. The cannery is built and will be ready for operations as soon as the machinery is put in. In the meanwhile a full force of men are engaged in making tins and getting ready for the run.

Asphalt Sidewalks.

Messrs. T. N. Hibben & Co., are having an asphalt sidewalk laid in front of their premises on Government street. The enterprising firm are the first to have this durable walk laid and no doubt now that the sample laid in Trounce alley has been found so satisfactory many property owners will follow and before long Victoria's main streets will have decent looking sidewalks.

Murder at Seattle.

C. A. Dobson, a contractor and builder of Seattle, was murdered in that city on Saturday evening by F. J. Pratt, a teamster. The two men got into a quarrel over some work, and came to blows. Dobson was knocked down by Pratt, and when found the latter was pummelling the former's head and face terribly, Dobson being dead. Pratt has been locked up on a charge of manslaughter. He says that Dobson's neck was broken when he was knocked down.

From the North.

The steamer Cosmopolis arrived at Departure Bay on Sunday from Alaska. Mr. H. T. Heaven, who has chartered the vessel, stated to a press reporter that the report of the vessel being a wreck was misinterpreted. He said: "We were a little above Bella Bella, and got ashore, and as we were not acquainted with the coast, we deemed it prudent to throw overboard sixty or seventy tons of coal when we floated off safely. Had we been acquainted with the spot where we ran aground we might have saved the fuel, as I believe we could have got off without jettisoning it. The Cosmopolis suffered no injury whatever from the incident, and called at all the ports north and discharged her cargo."

Port Angeles Municipal Election.

The election for incorporating the town of Port Angeles and the election of municipal officers took place Saturday and the result surprised the expectations of the most sanguine. The vote was lighter than expected, because of the absence of many on their ranches. The vote for incorporation was 159 and only one vote against it. The successful candidates are: Mayor, John Dyke; councilmen, W. W. Gray, Donald McInnes, E. H. Foster, D. F. Quinn, J. F. Meagher; city treasurer, D. W. Morse. These gentlemen represented the Business Men's ticket. The opposing ticket was made up entirely of members of the Puget Sound Colony company, and their defeat means extinguishment of that element, as far as municipal control is concerned.

A Picnic for House Wives.

"The New York Sun," says the Post-Intelligencer, is authority for the statement that at the forthcoming electrical exhibition in St. Louis, among other illustrations of the recent progress made in the application of electricity to heating purposes will be ordinary looking flat irons to which flexible cord is attached, through which heat can be instantly transmitted to the iron by a slight pressure. By the use of a similar appliance soldering irons can be heated without waste of time, and the customary fire-pot, with its smoke and offensive smell, can be dispensed with. Tea kettles, tin pans, cooking dishes and other culinary articles can be placed anywhere and their contents boiled, baked or heated to meet the necessities of the hour without the loss of time incident to the lighting of a fire.

Port Crescent.

Captain White, formerly of the Str. Premier, now has charge of the Angeles.

Mr. J. W. Bryden, of Victoria, arrived here last Saturday and has taken a position in the office of the Port Crescent Improvement Co.

The Improvement Co. received 15,000 feet of water pipe and two tons of Judson powder by the Ferndale on Tuesday.

The first team of horses in Port Crescent arrived on last Friday's boat.

The lights of the clearing fires present a fine sight to vessels passing this place at night, and also gives the impression of what will soon be, viz: electric lights.

E. A. Hart, of Victoria, has opened a real estate office. He will do a general banking business.

Church services will be held at this place next Sunday. Steps will be taken to organize a church society and Sunday school. The meeting will be held in the open air.—Port Crescent Star.

An inland steamship company, of Odessa has laid down regulations by which impecunious nobles find themselves at a great disadvantage. The company classifies its passengers not according to the fare they pay, but according to their respective stations in society. Common citizens are not allowed to take passage in a cabin, while nobles cannot take passage in the steerage. The fare from Odessa to Vladivostok costs 200 roubles and only 120 roubles in the steerage. The wealthiest commoner cannot have the comforts of a cabin passenger, nor can the poorest noble get cheap transportation in the steerage. But while the former can reach his destination if he pays the price of a steerage passenger, the latter is decidedly unable to move if he cannot raise the 500 roubles.

MR. KEITH'S POSITION.

To the Editor:—In your issue of June 7th you have an editorial headed "First Blood," in which I am placed in a very unfair position. You say that I condemned the present Government for giving away vast tracts of land for the purpose of getting railroads constructed, and I certainly did, and do condemn them for so doing. Then you say Mr. Keith has declared, through the Free Press that he is an independent supporter of the present Government. Now, just permit me to say that that statement is utterly false. The facts of the case are these: The Free Press was asked by the M. & M. H. P. A. (whose nominee I am) to make public the following: That Mr. T. Keith, the member for Nanaimo City, and Mr. T. Foster, the candidate for Nanaimo district, were not put forward as Oppositionists, nor yet as Government supporters. They were simply independent, bound down to no party, owing allegiance to neither Opposition nor Government, and the instructions of the Association to them were to give an independent support to which ever party would bring in measures most in accordance with the labor platform as issued by the workingmen of Nanaimo.

If the Free Press went further than this it was unauthorized to do so, and I may just say that this is the stand I have taken, and shall continue to do so. And this is the wish of my constituents, to remain independent, not to go in for party, but measures; to try and accomplish the greatest good for the greatest number. Enclosed is copy of platform. Hoping you will make necessary correction, I remain, yours truly,

THOS. KEITH.

Nanaimo, June 8th.

[Mr. Keith has ground for complaint against the Free Press—not against the Times. His position as explained in the above by himself is precisely what we understood it to be. As a labor candidate, perfectly independent, and opposed to the legislation of the Government, we were quite right in claiming that the Opposition had drawn first blood in the Nanaimo election and Mr. Keith now proves our case. The Times never claimed Mr. Keith as an Opposition member, but in view of the fact that Nanaimo had been represented by two servile followers of the Government, who were compelled by the force of public opinion to retire and permit Mr. Keith, whose antagonism to the policy of the Government was well known, to be elected by acclamation, the Times was justified in claiming the election of Mr. Keith as an Opposition victory. The Colonist and the World reprinted the article from the Free Press; perhaps they will reprint the above—and perhaps not.]

THE NORTH STAR SEIZED.

This Notorious Steamer at Last in the Hands of the Customs.

For several months past the movements of the little steamer North Star, of this port, have been watched with a careful eye by the customs authorities, who had good reason to believe that her occupation was not such as would entitle her to be classed with honest traders, but no direct evidence could be procured until within the past few days. Everything, however, has been traced up, and at last Inspector Young decided to act, with the result that the steamer North Star is now in the custody of the Canadian Customs.

This little steamer has been written of and talked about for the past few weeks more than any other craft in port. Her doings have been chronicled in glaring headlines in American newspapers, and American Customs officers have been detailed over to Victoria to watch the [illegible] here, and to send on information [illegible] telegraphic messages have flashed across the Straits telling the customs people at Port Townsend of her departure for the other side when she was deep laden with contraband Chinese; but in spite of all the vigilance of the U. S. officers, both here and in Port Townsend, she has so far escaped them, and her capture has been effected by the untiring energy of Port Inspector Young and his staff.

With the knowledge that the North Star was engaged in the illegal traffic of smuggling Chinese into the States, Mr. Young rightly believed that the dog that will fetch a bone will carry one, and strongly suspicous circumstances were noticed that was almost conclusive proof that she was engaged in illegal traffic here, and a close watch has been kept on her. Her movements have been so silent and her ways so dark, however, that it was a weary task to catch her. She would one day be seen on the beach with her small crew busily engaged in scrubbing her bottom or fixing her propeller, and that night at high tide she would be gone, and with her would go many Chinese.

At last, however, patience was rewarded, and it came to the knowledge of the customs officers that another "run" was contemplated last Monday night and that a living cargo of Chinese were to be embarked at Oak Bay. The North Star's captain had cleared his vessel for Prevost Island, declaring that he was going a coasting trip. This was done to act as a blind but it didn't work, for a Canadian official went to Oak Bay to get ocular proof of the breakage of the law. Two United States detectives, who were also informed of the projected "run," were also out, and the ubiquitous newspaper reporter was likewise there. Oak Bay was reached, and a point of vantage taken up. Ere long a tiny speck of light was seen on the water, which gradually drew closer to the shore. It was the North Star. Soon the watchers descried a party of Chinese, piloted by a white man, make their way down to the beach. A small boat was hoisted out from the Star and pulled ashore by one man. The Chinese were taken in in small parties on board. But something was wrong, for loud and angry voices were heard, and soon another white man from the Star came on shore and engaged in a wordy warfare with the man in charge of the Chinese. It appeared that the party was two short, and the people on board the Star thought they were being cheated. The noise grew louder, when all at once the man from the steamer whipped out a revolver and banged away at the man in charge of the Chinese. No one was hurt, however, and the watchers having seen enough to warrant them in acting, started toward Victoria, and this morning the North Star was seized under three charges, for infraction of the law embodied in clauses 27, 28, 99 and 193 of the customs act. She is also liable to seizure under clause 52 of chap. 78 of the revised statutes.

The North Star is a one-masted steamer, 40 feet in length, by 9 feet 7 inches beam. She is a screw propeller of two horse power, with a speed of about six miles an hour. Her registered owners are Frederick Jones and Angel Keefoe. All the facts of the case, together with sworn testimony, will be forwarded to Ottawa to be dealt with there, and meanwhile the North Star will remain tied up at the customs wharf.

Sample Boots and Shoes.

Messrs. Russell, McDonald & Co, opposite the Iron church, Douglas street, have purchased a splendid lot of sample boots and shoes from the best Eastern factories, these to-gether with their usual immense stock make by far the largest and most complete boot and shoe stock in the Province. Their prices are very low and the quality of their goods excellent.

The Sunday Colonist.

A more unfair wretch is dealing with an opponent than a writer in the Colonist would be hard to find. Instead of quoting Mayor Grant on the single tax, honestly and fairly, portions of half a dozen sentences are torn from their contexts and run in together without any qualifying words, so as to make him say entirely opposite to what he did say. The Sunday Colonist forsooth. Bah!

Gored by an Ox.

Word was received in the city to-day that a man named Morrison, working at one of the logging camps north of Bute Inlet, was gored by an ox a few days ago, and was not expected to live. He was at work on a log at the time when it rolled against a team of oxen, one of which gored the unfortunate man in the stomach. He was a young man and had only arrived in the country a few days ago from Goderich, Ont., where his family reside.

A Mean Bully.

The TIMES is not in the habit of sympathizing to any great extent with the Chinese, but an incident occurred this afternoon which would make any right thinking white man blush for his race. A half drunken loafer on Humboldt street deliberately stepped up behind a Chinese vegetable peddler, and with a vicious kick capsized the unoffending man's wares into the dusty street, and then with a brutal laugh and coarse jest, jeered at the unfortunate Mongolian. The bully was big and strong, and that was his only point of superiority to the chinaman.

Public Meeting—Burned in Effigy.

A public meeting was held at Cedar Hill last evening, addressed by Messrs. Eberts, Anderson and Carey. All made very good efforts at speechifying. Mr. Eberts occupied the floor about an hour and a half and was very severe on Mr. Carey. Mr. Anderson wrestled with the wide tire question—a matter which may cost him his political head—and finally wound up with the school question. A correspondent states that when Mr. Anderson emerged from the building after getting through, that he found his burning effigy depending by the neck from a tree. Mr. Carey in his speech showed that he had not failed to keep an eye on the Government and the Legislature during the past four years.

It was the 100-mile race, and Spooner made the distance in 5 hours, 39 minutes, 53 4-5 seconds, the best previous time being 5 hours, 59 minutes, 40 seconds, made by Spooner himself. Wm. Van Wagoner was second by two feet, and C. C. Peabody a close third. There were nine starters, including N. H. Evavickler, who tired at the end of the sixty-ninth mile. All the others except Spooner, Van Wagoner and Peabody were at time out of the race.

This evening State Attorney Blackburn swore out a warrant for their arrest for disturbing the peace. Officer Patterson arrested them as they were leaving town in carriages for Covington, Ind.

BASEBALL.

A match game of baseball will be played on Saturday afternoon at the Caledonian grounds, Beacon Hill, between the James Bays and the Wellington team. The boys have found it necessary to play in enclosed grounds, as the visiting team expects something to compensate them for coming to the city, especially if they win. The Wellington team have got several good players among them and no doubt a close game will be the result, although no home team thus far can win.

WRESTLING.

Tom Parrot, of the Portland well known in Victoria, will play for the web foot team, and if the rest of the teams are as good as him, both in playing and gentlemanly bearing, the game will be a magnificent success. The two clubs have crossed bats several times, but so far neither one seems to gain any advantage, one being on top one week and the other the next. The boys will arrive over by the Kingston this evening, and will be taken in hand by Thos. Burns, jr., who has been instrumental in getting them to come over.
